

Amendments To The Claims:

Please amend the claims as shown.

1 – 19 (canceled)

20. (new) A method for providing spare parts for a client, comprising:
collecting a plurality of spare part offers from a plurality of spare part suppliers;
compiling the collected spare part offers into a spare part list;
storing the spare part list in a computerized database;
displaying the stored list for a spare part client;
selecting a spare part from the displayed list by the spare part client;
purchasing the spare part from the spare part supplier by the spare part client; and selling the spare part from the spare part supplier to the spare part client.

21. (new) The method in accordance with claim 20, wherein the method is performed via a Internet page.

22. (new) The method in accordance with claim 21, further comprising electronically processing a payment transaction for the purchase and sale of the spare parts.

23. (new) The method in accordance with claim 22, wherein a sales contract is formed between a selected spare parts supplier and a method operator at the conclusion of the electronic payment transaction.

24. (new) The method in accordance with claim 23, wherein a purchase contract is formed between the method operator and the spare parts client at the conclusion of the electronic payment transaction.

25. (new) The method in accordance with claim 20, wherein the displayed list is compiled via access to a number of databases.

26. (new) The method in accordance with claim 25, further comprising entering a selection criteria and outputting a list of spare parts based on the selection criteria.
27. (new) The method in accordance with claim 26, wherein the spare parts offers offered by the client are identified in the spare parts list presented to the client for identification of own offers of a spare parts supplier.
28. (new) The method in accordance with claim 27, wherein the method operator organizes the transportation of the purchased spare part.
29. (new) The method in accordance with claim 28, wherein a plurality of databases are used and each database is assigned to an economic area.
30. (new) The method in accordance with claim 29, wherein the economic area is a country having a restricted and closed economy.
31. (new) The method in accordance with claim 30, wherein the economic area is the Russian Federation.
32. (new) A computer system for providing spare parts for a client, comprising:
a server database for storing a list of spare parts;
an first Internet Web page for entering a spare part and an associated purchase price in the list by a first client, a second Internet Web page for selecting and ordering a spare part from the list by a second client;
a transferer for transferring the purchase price of the spare part to an account of a user of the first client; and a debiter for debiting a user account of the second client with the order amount.
33. (new) The computer system in accordance with claim 32, further comprising a number of server databases and each database is assigned to an economic area.

34. (new) The computer system in accordance with claim 33, wherein the economic area is a country having a restricted and closed economy.

35. (new) The computer system in accordance with claim 34, wherein the economic area is the Russian Federation.

36. (new) The computer system in accordance with claim 35, wherein a selected list of spare parts is created by entering selection criteria into the computer system.

37. (new) The computer system in accordance with claim 36, further comprising a demonstration mode for the individual functions of the system and the capability for registration of a new user.

38. (new) The computer system in accordance with claim 37, further comprising the capability to electronically download and execute a contract.

39 (new) A method for providing spare parts for a client located in a import restricted and closed economic area, comprising:

- collecting a spare part offer from a plurality of spare part suppliers;
- compiling the collected spare part offers into a spare part list;
- storing the spare part list in a computerized database;
- displaying the stored list for a spare part client;
- selecting a spare part from the displayed list by the spare part client;
- purchasing the spare part from the spare part supplier by the spare part client; and
- processing electronically a payment transaction for the purchase and sale of the spare parts by the spare part client;
- executing an electronic sales contract between the spare part supplier and the spare part client; and
- arranging transportation of the purchased spare part from the spare part supplier to the spare part client.